Towing Tip #8 The Legal Side of Towing

Having the tow vehicle properly equipped is the biggest factor in towing safely and it is also one of the biggest factors in avoiding serious legal issues.

In the event of an accident where injuries occurred, the operator's failure in having the vehicle and trailer properly equipped places the operator under great liability risk the legal system defines as Negligence.

If the vehicle's owner's manual uses words such as "requires," "must have," or "do not exceed" in describing certain weights, limitations, and driving instructions related to towing and if those warnings/instructions are ignored, the operator could be held liable for damages in a lawsuit brought against them by the injured party.

Thank you for your business and continued support.

Sincerely,

The entire staff at Primo Trailer Sales
